I srongly object to the use of the BPL for internet transmission purposes. I know of no research showing that it would not interfere with other services.